

My Special Valentine

Hurray!

It's Valentine's Day!

Our LOVE for our family and friends sure shines bright.

So, let's try with all our might

To show someone how much we care

By sharing with them a book we love to read just about anywhere

The book does not have to be new

As long as you think the person will like reading the book too.

It can be a book from your house that you've lovingly read cover to cover

Or something new that you have recently discovered.

Also, since it is Valentine's Day

Let's be sure to also say

What we think makes the person special and neat.

Maybe they are a good artist, fun to play with, or a great athlete?

Write your thoughts on a Valentine

And make sure to decorate it until it shines!

Once you have your book and note,

It's time to share with them what you wrote.

Have you heard of ding dong ditch?

Now's the time and I hope there won't be a glitch!

Today, leave your gift on their porch or driveway,

Ring their doorbell and then run away!
